LI HUNG CHANG'S END WAS QUIET.

Controversy Between Foreign and Chinese Doctors.

HAD NO EFFECT ON PATIENT

Burial Will be at Place of His Birth -Many Messages of Sympathy-No Signs of Mourning.

Pekin, Nov. 7 .- The end of Li Hung Chang was quiet. His vitality slowly ebbed. For a time he lost consciousness, but he showed great tenacity, rallied at midnight, became semi-conscious, partook of nourishment and appeared to recognize his relatives. The foreign doctors left him early yesterday, saying that nothing more could be done. His personal physician, Dr. Watt, then took charge. The controversy between the foreign and Chinese doctors had no effect on the patient, because he was already beyond hope of recovery.

The flames of the paper effigies of horses burned in the courtyard of the yamen to carry his spirit to heaven told the crowd of officials who were gathered in the narrow street outside that the end had come.

Soon afterward a procession appeared, bearing a costly coffin of teakwood, beautifully lacquered. This coffin Li Hung Chang took on his trip around the world, and he brought it from Canton when he went to Pekin to settle the Boxer troubles. Since that time it has been kept in a temple nere. The body will be placed in the coffin tomorrow morning with the customary rites.

On Sunday there will be a ceremonial corresponding to a lying in state, and all the Chinese officers will pay their respects. A separate day will be desig-nated for the ministers of the powers.

nated for the ministers of the powers. Interment will be at the birthpa se of the deceased statesman, a have village in the province of Anhui. The day has not yet been decided upon.

The ministers of the powers are personally sending messages of sympathy. The first letter received at the Chinese foreign office came this morning from Mr. Conger, the United States minister, saying that Secy. Hay had instructed him to tender the regrets of President Roosevelt and the United States government at the imminent death of the viceroy.

There are no signs of mourning in the death of the viceroy.

There are no signs of mourning in the city, although the populace is much excited. The ministers of the powers consider Yuan Shi Kai the strongest man in China after Li Hang China, and they think his presence here would have a good influence on the court, but they fear the results of removing him from the province of Shan Tung, the most turbulent province in the empire and the seat of the Boxer movement. Yuan Shi Kai has controlled the province with an iron hand. The situation there is particularly delicate on ation there is particularly delicate on account of the friction with the Germans, and the substitution of a man with less tact would doubtless mean uprising and a conflict between the Chinese and Germans.

The death of Li Hung Chang is douby regretted because he was the only influential Chinaman who could deal with the foreign governments with an appreciation of the foreign point of view. Officials attached to Li's household informed the correspondent of the Associated Press today that the Russian minister, Paul Lesar, called early in the morning and strenuously en-deavored to have the seal of Li Hung Chang attached to the Manchurlan con-vention before he died. It is impossible to verify this statement from other Chi-

EARL'S LAST ILLNESS.

New York, Nov. 8 .- One of the most intimate friends of Li Hung Chang in this country is Dr. Louis Seaman of this city. Dr. Seaman, who was formerly a surgeon in the United States army, serving in Porto Rico and the Philippines, spent some time in China during the war of 1899. So close did the army surgeon approach the distin-guished Chinaman owing to a friendship between the doctor's father and Earl Id that at one time he was invited to accept of the hospitality of the viceroy's palace "for a year." Speaking of the earl's last illness, Dr.

"When I said good-bye to Earl Li last March I did not expect that he was so soon to leave his people. He was a very old man and had been a sufferer from stomach trouble, dyspepsia and indigestion all his life. It was because he took little or no exercise. In China it is against the dignity of a man to be seen walking, and about all the walk-ing Li did was to and from his sedan seen walking, and about all the walking Li did was to and from his sedan chair. I tried to argue him into that for the sake of his health he must take walks or other exercise, but in this respect he could not be reformed.

"I do not believe that Li would have died had Dr. Mark been in attendance as usual. Dr. Mark is an exceedingly able physician. But at the time of Li's death he was away with Prince Chuan, who went to Germany to apologize for the Germans. Li, when left alone, rarely took any care of himself and it was only by constant vigilance on the part of Dr. Mark that he was kept alive to the ripe old age that he was permitted to attain.

"In stature Li Hung Chang was a veritable giant. His physique was splendid, all except his legs which were undeveloped and thin for want of exercise. They had become atrophied from lack of use.

"The incident which brought us together closer than ever before was when we were discussing the rights of gether closer than ever before was when we were discussing the rights of the United States to the Philippines, Li arguing that by right the islands belonged to China. Finally he said that he wanted to know what right the United States had more than any other. he wanted to know what right the United States had more than any other robber to enter the islands. I answered him briefly, calling his attention to the efforts of Russia, England, Germany, France and Italy to split China, and said: I should think, your excellency, you had enough bad eggs to your own basket without wishing for in your own basket without wishing fo another country that is steeped in war.'

The answer he liked, and from that moment he became even more than ever a charming host."

INTEREST IN LI LONG LOST. New York, Nov. 8 .- The personality of Li Hung Chang, says the Berlin cor-respondent of the London Times and respondent of the London Times and the New York Times, had long ceased to excite any interest in Germany. The public and the official world had discovered that they had been his dupes at the time of his visit in 1896. Because of his title of viceroy Earl Li was treated with almost royal honors in Germany, which probably astonished the wily old mandarin himself. His hosts hoped that on his return to Chinahe would secure large orders for amhe would secure large orders for am-bitious German manufacturerc.

tion on the subject at Washington.
"China has suffered a great loss by the death of Li Hung Chang," said Mr. Wu today, "and the position he held in Chinese affairs will be a most difficult one for China to fill. He was a great man; he was also a good man, and practically devoted his life to the betterment of the empire and to doing scod."

Secy. Hay sent for Mr. Rockhill this morning and had a talk with him over the Chinese situation as affected by the death of Li Hung Chang. Mr. Rockhill, having just returned from Pekin, is better posted perhaps than any person connected with the state department now in Washington.

The officials de not expect any cabi-

The officials do not expect any cabinet disturbance in China. A new vice-roy will be chosen. The names most prominently mentioned as possible successors of Li Hung Chang are Yuan Shi Kai, the present governor of Shan Tung, and Prince Ching himself, who has been associated with Li Hung Chang as one of the two Chinese plenipotentiaries. Neither of the two great southern vicere s, those of Nankin and Hankow, could be induced to relinquish his post, even to accept the viceroyalty of Chi Li, next to the throne. It is a source of anxiety here that some person of reactionary tendencies may be appointed to fill Li's place. That would be a more serious matter than almost any other appointment, in view of the fact that the viceroy of the light presenting with the control of the light con Chi Li necessarily will come into frequent and close contact with the lega-tion guards and the military command-ers left by the powers to connect Peers left by the bowers to connect re-kin with the sea.

Minister Wu was a protege of Li Hung Chang. His friends here fear that in the death of his friend and protector he has exposed himself to at-tacks of many enemies in the Chinese court which his liberal policies have created. Mr. Wu for some time was Earl Li's legal adviser in foreign af-fairs and superintended, while acting fairs and superintended, while acting in that capacity, the construction of the first Chinese railway.

On receipt of official confirmation of the death of Li Hung Chang from Pekin, the Chinese standard floating over the legation in Washington will be half-masted, and there will be other observances incident to such an event.

THE BRITISH NAVY.

Berlin Journals Contradict Depre clatory Statements About It.

New York, Nov. 8.—The Berlin cor-respondent of the London Times and the New York Tunes says both the Co-logne Gazette and the Marine Rund-schau contradict the depreciatory state-ments in regard to the British navy which have been appearing in various which have been appearing in various German journals.

The Cologne Gazette refutes the assertions that the British naval artillery is defective and that the gunners are inefficient.

The Marine Rundschau declares that any attempt to mislead German opinion in this perilous manner deserves to be repudiated.

A GIGANTIC WATERWAY. Russia May Construct One from Riga to Kherson.

New York, Nov. 8 .- According to the Odessa correspondent of the London Times and the New York Times the Russlan government is considering the con-struction of a gigantic waterway from struction of a gigantic waterway from Riga, in the north to Khersod, near the mouth of the Dnieper on the Black sea. It is believed that large sums have already been spent at Kherson, which is eventually to be the terminus of a grand canal system joining the Baltic and the Black sea.

Delegates to Am. Labor Congress.

New York, Nov. 8.—A dispatch to the London Times and the New York Times from Liverpool says that the trade unionists there held a man meeting last night to bind farewell to the delegates chosen to attend the American hobor congress. But Tillett, in a speech, said they were going to tell the American workingmen that the same forces have been at work degrading them as those in England and concluding by saying that the fact that they were pitting themselves against their comrades in the old country would react with the effect of a boomerang upon themselves. M. DE LANSSAN CONDEMNED.

For Abolishing Computsory Attend ance at Mass on Man of War.

New York, Nov. 8.—The Paris correspondent of the London Times and the New York Times condemns M. de Lanssan, the French minister of marine, for his order abolishing compulsory attendance at mass on men of war. Some time ago M. de Lanssan forbade the draping of naval flass with crepe on Good Friday. He is accused of de-christenizing the fleet. His action, how-ever, fills the radicals, socialists and anti-clericals with joy.

The Gaulois criticises the minister order particularly as it comes just at the time when the French are demand-ing of Turkey the non-taxation of the French religious communities in the New Cracker Combine Possible.

New York, Nov. 8.—Another attempt is being made to form an association among the independent cracker bakers of the country, says the Jeurnal of Commerce. Local dealers have received commerce. Local dealers have received notice of a meeting called for Monday next in Cincinnati. Some significance is attached to this movement in certain quarters because of runors of a possible "bread war" here, similar to that going on in several western cities. It is said here that the Union Biscuit company of St. Louis is interested in the proposed Cincinnati meeting.

Greco - Roumanian Rapprochment. New York, Nov. 8.—The Vienna correspondent of the London Times and the New York Times, commenting on the meeting of the king of the Hellenes and Emperor Francis Joseph says that since the Greco-Roumanian raprochment, under the auspices of Austria-Hungary, the Balkan penin-sula has been less at the mercy of the unscrupulous agencies who would bring about a European war in order to satis fy their own selfish ambitions. Austrian and Greek interests lie very much in the same direction and though there are no grounds to suppose that special arrangements have been made between the two countries, a breakdown of the status quo would undoubtedly find

A GIRL'S TALE.

Well the dear old soul seemed day by day to take on new life, he began to stay at the office later and was full of fun when he came home in the evening.

The proof is plain enough that, morning after morning, year in and year out, we had been feeding our dear old governor with coffee that is really a strong liquid drug and it was gradually but

It is between students and soldiers at Walker's field this afternoon and, of course, each team is sure to win. Manager Hicks says his soldiers cannot be beaten by the Collegians, and Manager Gueymard does not believe his men will lose.

That the game will be close goes without saying, as both aggregations have been putting in good licks preparing for the struggle.

FOOTBALL IN OGDEN.

Fine Training Quarters for High School Pigskin Chasers.

Ogden has two excellent teams, the Home Guards and the splendid little high school team. The former team is made up of an aggregation of old high school players and others interested in football. The high school team is composed of all registered high school pu-pils. It is strictly a school team. The latter team is fast making its season's record. So far, it is good. The former team will yet be heard from. They are boys, but they need drill and a good coach. Their first game is with the Na+ tional Guard team at Salt Lake today. Geiger is captain.

Training quarters for the high school team have been completed at Glenwood park. Hot and cold baths are provided, and every convenience is supplied Every afternoon at 3:30 the team begins Every afternoon at 3:30 the team begins work, and from that on until 5:30 when they leave for home, they are put through a series of actions tending to put them in the best physical condition. After signal practice of some 30 minutes, the two teams (first and second high school) are brought together for a serious and swift struggle lasting some 20 ious and swift struggle lasting some 20 minutes, in which all the new plays are worked out. Then the first team has a few minutes practice in punting and kicking the ball, after which a run of member of both teams. This is for the purpose of giving them "wind." AMUSEMENTS.

Last night was a screaming one at the Salt Lake Theater; yet it was not devoid of a great deal of interest. It served to illustrate for one thing, how rapidly the taste of the public has changed. It is only a few years ago since all classes of theater-goers would have railied and enthused over "Sports." since all classes of theater-goers would have rallied and enthused over "Sporting Life." It belongs to the class of which "The Romany Rye." "Youth." and "The Lights o' London" were such conspicuous examples, and few plays made more money in their day than those works; yet if produced today, they would run chances of being laughed at, that is by up-to-date theater-goers. They would appeal to the galleries, of course, as heartily as ever, and that there is even a big downstair section which likes to be thrilled by their hair lifting developments, is evidenced by the big turnout last night. It was generally, however, a gathering not often drawn to that part of the theater. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the advance sale was so light that the management feared all records for empty benches would be broken, but the night sale rolled up like a Republican tidal wave, and the box office must have told something like a thousand dollar tale when the curtain rose.

"Sporting Life" was just as well done as plays of that class ever were in Sait Lake, and the scenic part of it was admirable. The hero was a tride husky, the villain was just a little more in tense than usual, the cockney comedian and his true love, thrown upon the stage to occupy the attention of the audience whenever the stage carpenters needed time to set the stage behind them, were just what they always were, and the heavy woman, a sister of Nance O'Neill, by the way, tried to give her famous sister cards and spades, and perished in the attempt; still it would have taken a Jeffreys Lewis to have made of the role what the author designed it, and Miss Lambson came fairly well through the flery ordeal. Need-less to say, the galleries almost tore up the benches in their enthusiasm, while the few regular theater goers who were scattered through the house got the full worth of their money, in amusedly watching the curdling unfoldamusedly watching the carding unloading of the play. Its stay was limited to one night, though we do not doubt that it would have drawn just such another audience if it could have remained

The Grand was almost deserted last night, the fact being that its patrons went over in a body to the rival house. Those in attendance, however, saw a pleasantly rendered drama, not at a'l as welrd and wild as its name, "The Daughter of the Diamond King," might suggest. The story is quite interesting and the various parts were filled by people who were considerably the average of the popular priced traveling attractions. A number of good specialties were introduced, the fore-most of which was a song by Miss Kempton, entitled "Idaho" and a contralto solo by Miss Wynn. The same bill goes for the remainder of the week and now that "Sporting Life" is out of the way, a resumption of good business may be looked for.

At the Theater tonight Eugenie Blair appears in a new dramatization of Charles Reade's noted novel "Peg Woffington."

The sale for "Theodora," in which Mrs. Brune appears Monday, is now on at the Theater. Mrs. Brune is the actress who is better known under her maiden name of Charlotte Tittell.

All next week Miss Johnstone Bennett, who made her big American hit in the comedy of "Jane," appears at the Grand in "A Female Drummer." The advance sale is now on.
